

Geography A Level

The Geography
Team

Katie Cupples

Teacher of Geography
Teacher of Geology

A level examiner in Geography

Lina Jacobsen

Head of Geography, Geology & Environmental Science

A level senior examiner for Edexcel
A Level senior moderator for NEA

What will I study?

Tectonic Hazards

Why did 300,000 people die in Haiti but only 2 in New Zealand even though the earthquakes were the same size?

What will I study?

Figür Abdülsöğüt

Regenerating Places

Why do areas go through changes?

Why did the London Olympics mean that 46 young mums were made homeless?

What will I study?

Glaciation

Are glaciers so powerful that they change the shape of the Earth's surface?

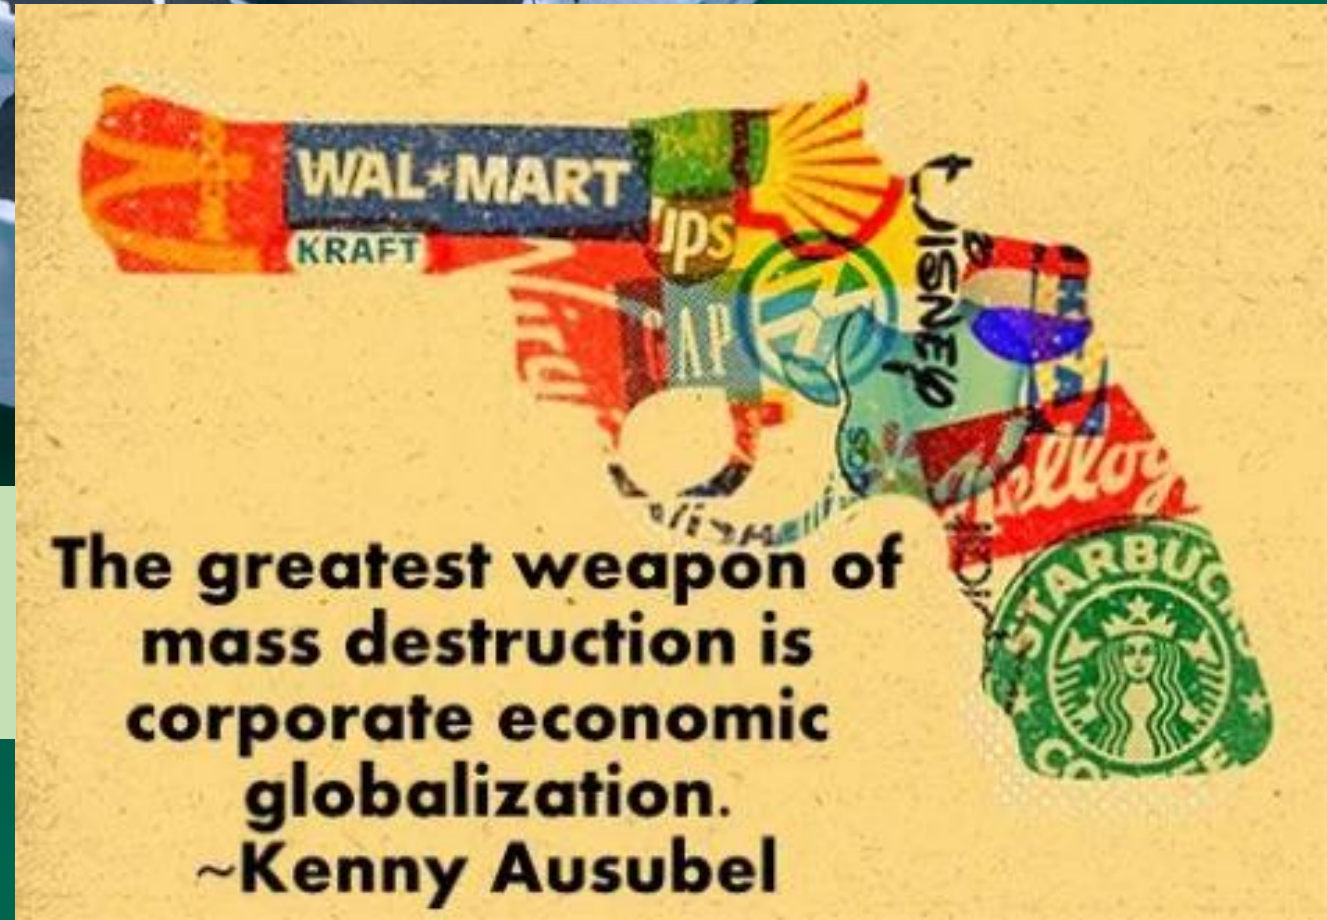

What will I study?

Globalisation

What is it and is it good for the planet and people?

The greatest weapon of mass destruction is corporate economic globalization.
~Kenny Ausubel

An aerial photograph showing a dense forest with a large, irregularly shaped brown area in the upper right quadrant, likely representing a fire scar or deforested land. The surrounding forest is a mix of green and yellowish-green, and the background shows a cleared, sandy or light-colored area with some scattered debris.

What will I study?

The Carbon and the water cycles

Do humans cause floods?

Can we prevent climate change?

Superpowers

How have the most powerful nations changed over time?

Why did ISIS gain a foothold in the Middle East and Africa?

What will I study?

Migration

Why are some countries more liberal than others in their approach to immigration?

Who are climate migrants and why are they becoming more common?

What will I study?

Assessments in Geography

3 exams:
Paper 1 – Physical
Paper 2 – Human
Paper 3 – Synoptic
Each one is 2 hours 15 min

NEA – Non examined
assessment
(coursework)
20% of A Level

You choose the topic

Fieldwork in Geography

Entry Requirements

5 in English

4 in Maths

6 in Geography (if done at GCSE)

Why study Geography?

“The study of geography is about more than just memorizing places on a map. It’s about understanding the complexity of our world, appreciating the diversity of cultures that exists across continents. And in the end, it’s about using all that knowledge to help bridge divides and bring people together.”
-President Obama

It is a traditional, facilitating subject at university

- This means that universities like this subject for its content and having it as an A level increases your chances of getting into university.

Skills

Geography gives you such a wide range of skills, you are bound to have a skill universities or employers need:

- Research skills
- Communication skills
- Data and geospatial skills
- Fieldwork experience
- Visual communication skills
 - Teamwork

Why study Geography?

WHAT DO GEOGRAPHY GRADUATES DO?

SIX MONTHS AFTER GRADUATION

